Luxury. Grandeur. The singular drama of a Broadway stage. Welcome to the Hudson Theatre at Millennium Broadway.

The extraordinary setting for the most romantic day of your life.

The landmark occasion of a lifetime—your wedding—deserves a legendary space: the historic Hudson Theatre. The third oldest theater on Broadway and the only one regularly available for wedding ceremonies and receptions, the Hudson Theatre enhances your wedding day with romantic history and stage glamour.

As the star of the day, you'll enjoy moments unique to Broadway. You'll never forget dancing the first dance on a real Broadway stage or cutting the cake high above your guests in the Queen's box. However, you can relax knowing that the Hudson Theatre is part of the Millennium Broadway Hotel, a sophisticated full-service hotel offering newly updated accommodations and the most-requested catering choices, from five-course gourmet dinners to live cooking displays.

Built in 1903 by producer Henry B. Harris, who later perished aboard the Titanic, the Hudson Theatre was managed for many years by Harris' beloved wife Irene. The inimitable Mrs. Harris was the first woman to produce theater in New York City. Now exquisitely restored to its opening night splendor, the Hudson Theatre features authentic Tiffany glass mosaic tiles, Tiffany chandeliers and gold-gilded boxes. Updated sound and lighting systems complement the theater's period charm. Join such legends as Ethel Barrymore, Louis Armstrong, Elvis Presley and Barbra Streisand who have appeared on the Hudson's landmark stage.
